Gaps and Opportunities

General Audience Focus:
Primarily targets general users interested in art and culture exploration, lacking specialized tools for student research needs.

Limited Academic Resources:
While they offer extensive cultural content, it may lack the depth needed for comprehensive academic research.

Content Curation:
Prioritizes popular artworks and exhibitions, potentially neglecting the unique requirements of students delving into niche research areas.

Developing student-centered apps with academic support features, addressing the market gap for research-focused apps, and using technology to enhance students' cultural institution experiences.
